

WOOD FLOORING

The picture on the left illustrates the difference between Planet Hardwood and any other flooring showroom, and why customers from as far away as Montreal, Boston and New York City make the trip to see us. The wood flooring industry expects you to make an intelligent and informed decision from a sample the size of a magazine. This is because they are competing for space in most showrooms with carpet, vinyl, laminate, and other flooring choices that are harmful to you and harmful to the environment. At Planet Hardwood, we show wood flooring on 20 square foot panels (on right) so you can see the character and natural variation of the wood. Since most wood flooring is cartoned or bundled in 20 square foot increments, you get to see an actual example of typical production and not some tiny sample from the marketing department. We love wood and that is apparent the minute you step into our building. We show prefinished, unfinished, solid, engineered, recycled, and environmentally certified woods from our back yard and from around the world. Planet Hardwood has provided wood flooring for corporate headquarters, high-rises, and residential customers from coast to coast. We are a locally owned Vermont corporation.

Some of the great things about Wood Flooring:

Beautiful and Timeless	Wood flooring has universal appeal and transforms interior spaces to a greater degree than any other surface.
Durable	Wood flooring will last as long as the building is standing.
Versatile	Wood flooring goes with any décor.
Non-Toxic	Wood flooring does not harbor allergens or off-gas any harmful chemicals.
Environmental	Wood is the only environmentally correct building material... the only material that satisfies two cornerstones of environmental appropriateness: renewable and bio-degradable. Additionally, and especially compared to any other flooring choice, it takes less energy to produce and leaves no toxic trail or waste.
Intelligent	Wood flooring immediately adds value to your property. It is an investment versus an expenditure.
